That a Chinaman possesses some sense of gratitude and appreciates acts of kindness is not generally believed, that is to say, it is not an admitted fact by those whose acquaintance with the Celestial is only of a superficial nature. But a Chinaman is sensible to kindness, even if it be extended to him by the "outer barbarian" as the foreigner is styled in the Flowery Land. ## Island Notes.

From Hilo we hear that there was not a single charge of drunkenness before the local Court either for Christmas or New Year's days. A melan-LIST OF LICENSES choly illustration of the evils of drink occurred, however on New Year's day. An old resident named Shepherd was seen to go to his house the worse for liquor on the evening of New Year's day and as he did not make his appearance on the fol. lowing day his place was entered by the police who found him lying there insensible and in the midst of horrible filth. He was removed to better quarters and made clean and the doctor sent for but remedies were of no avail and he died on the following day.

A case of manslaughter occurred last week at Kukuihaele. A man named Kaupanui had a dis. pute with two other natives which ended in a row. and one of the men hit Kaupanni on the head so so severely with a stone that died the next day. He was sensible before his death and made a sworn deposition as to the circumstances. His two assailants have been committed for trial.

WAILUKU, MAUI, Dec. 31, 1883. Prior to the last vacation of the Government school at Wailuku, Mr. Cone, the principal, was asked by several gentlemen to give another evening's entertainment of the comic opera of "Pinafore." It was further suggested to charge for admission in order to raise money wherewith to purchase chandeliers for the school house, so that at any future entertainment, there would be no necessity to borrow lamps. The entertainment was duly advertised in Wailuku and Kahului, and on the night of the performance the school house was well filled. Instead, however, of devoting the proceeds to the purchase of chandeliers, presents were bought for the teachers. With all due respect to the teachers, I do not approve making it known that the proceeds would be devoted to one object, and then to expend the money for something else. K. K.

KAHULUI, MAUL. The schooner Rosario, Captain Swift, sailed hence for San Francisco on Tuesday, the 1st Jannary, with a full cargo of sugar.

HONORAA, Jan. 14th, 1884. The holiday season has passed over very quietly not a single arrest for drunkenness, or quarreling in Honakaa, in fact, good order seemed to prevail amongst all classes, and plantation work of all kind was resumed the next day and things seemed to settle lown in their regular groove for another The Honokaa mill is making good work and cane turning out well, averaging so far, five or six tons to the acre. Crops of all kinds look better than they have for years back.

The coming elections do not seem to create much interest here. It would be well if property owners in this district were a little more alive to their in-terests, at the present time, The Hon. J. K. Kaunamano will have an easy victory.

Beware of the defamer and of all who speak evil of others.

The Third Meeting of the Teachers' Assc. start was made at Lahainaluna and Reformatory

On Mondday last about forty gentlemen engaged inscholastic duties in various parts of the Kingdom, met at the Y. M. C. A. hall for the purpose of inter- | domestic work, etc. changing their views and discussing topics bearing upon the education of youth in this country. The Rev. Alex Mackintosh, President of the Convention, took the Chair. In addressing the meeting he said the Teachers' Convention was formed two years ago. It had been found that the monthly meetings were not a success. After some remarks of interest, he suggested that a lady be done elsewhere. The S. F. News Letter elected as Vice President of the Convention, and that a secretary be appointed with a salary. He legal authorities of Illinois that the sale of invited papers from the country teachers. He certain flashy publications, which have spoke at length and with considerable force on the training of teachers. In his opinion it could not be reasonably expected that local teachers could should expect to be chosen before trained teachers from abroad. They therefore ought to have trained teachers here. If such were the case name the various "police," periodicals, they could be appointed as vacancies occurred. The meeting then proceeded to the selection of the first decided step in this direction to be officers for the current year, with the following taken by Chicago, which rejoices in being result: Prof. M. But so it is, and a more praise- tary; Miss Mossman, Miss Sanford and Miss Carworthy and practical method of giving ter, the Executive Committee. A letter from Mr. A. T. Atkinson was read, stating his inability to attend, owing to the opening of his school on the day of the meeting. Prof. Scott then took the Chair. Mr. John A. Moore read a paper on "Text Books." He said that Hawaiian children were like children elsewhere. Text books being necessary, it was also necessary that they have the best kind of text books. Hewas in favorof books being illustrated as much as possible, simple and pertaining to the essons. Also a set of questions to accompany each lesson. By this method they would not only learn to read, but make new lessons for themselves,

Mr. Oleson who has compiled a spelling book for Hawaiians who are learning English, next spoke-His spelling book contained 1,500 English words of a colloquial nature. He has also prepared a book on English synonyms. Referring to his spelling book, the first lesson contained such words as long, short, wide, narrow, deep, shallow, thick, thin, and so on. Mrs. George Wallace next read a paper entitled. Remarks on the lack of thoroughness in primary teaching." She considered it due to three causes. 1st, faults of parents, 2d. faults of school boards. and 3d faults of teachers.

About 160 Chinese afternoon's business with an able disquisition Deputy Sheriff who was at Judge Hardy's house, embarked on board the American bark on the "Quincy method" of teaching. This was followed by an interesting exposition of that method in teaching arithmetic.

> Mr. Scott then read a letter from an absent teacher on the "Want of educational facilities for the children of Portuguese,'

His Ex. W. M. Gibson, President of the Board of Education was introduced to the meeting by Prof. M. M. Scott. Mr. Gibson said that This is the whole truth of the affair, took great pleasure in meeting this honorable company of teachers. They were the guides up the hill of science, the leaders along the pathway of knowledge, and he would enquire what was his position in relation to them? He thought be might be regarded in some sense as the highway of knowledge, to smooth the way, filling up the ruts, removing obstructions, In reference to the education of the Portuguese children, which has been spoken of, he said, what are termed free or public schools here, are misnamed. The tuition fees that are deemed but a slight quota towards the expense of tuition in our Government schools yet ar exceed the full cost of tuition in Government schools in other parts of the world. A common school ed- Fresh Supplies Constantly Arriving. neation must be made more accessible for Portuguese and other children, now coming into, and growing up in this country. As to what would be desirable to do there is no question; what can be done is another question. Of course in the position he held he could not venture upon positive statements as to what should be done. He might not have much opportunity of giving effect to the views that might be urged in respect to a freer and more general education, but he would assure them that he would give the subject a very earnest consideration and he ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO would anxiously await the result of their meetings. He had intended to call recently a meeting of the Board of Education, but had delayed doing so till he learned the results of their deliberations. He would like to have their opinions on the uniformity of text books. Economy of course in the administration of public affairs was an essential of good government; yet he did not intend to apply economy in the course of education merely to save money. He would spend as judiciously as possible every dollar authorized for educational purposes. He would not care to boast of what had been saved, but of what had been spent in such a cause. The discussion on "text books" next resumed, and after a vigorous discussion the following committee of seven, viz.: Miss Brickwood, Miss Corney, Miss Lewis, and Messrs, Mackintosh, Moore and Oleson, were appointed to consider the subject and draw up a report recommending suitable text books to be presented on the following day. It was moved by Mr. Townsend and seconded by Mr. Kenyon that "It is the sense of this meeting that all Government Schools should be free to all scholars." This was carried unanimously. It was also moved that the President and Secretary be requested to communicate the foregoing to the Board of Education. It was stated by the Inspector General D. D. Baldwin that the schools are already practically free to Portuguese children and the Hawaiians consequently feel that the same privilege should be granted to them.

Tuesday, January 8, 1884. The meeting resumed its labors at 9 o'clock

Dr. Hyde read a valuable paper on "Industrial Education." which was followed by lengthy discussion.

Inspector-General Baldwin said that in September last, a carpenter's shop was established at Lahainaluna and 15 or 16 pupils began to work. In November he visited the school and was astonished at the results. They had made 30 blackboards, which were sold to the Government schools on Mani, and from which the boys derived the profits. The boys take a great interest in the work. They were also taught draughting of plans for houses and estimating cost of same. Mr. Hitchcock gives excellent instruction. School tables and eventually school desks will be turned out from Lahamaluna and from the Reformintended for some of the residents of this city, atory school, also all furniture for schools will

All this kind of work was attended with good Such men should be marked, and shunned as a results. When the boys leave school they are able to earn good wages and it gives them a love

The Woman of the People.

Mr. Eprron: Having been in Sydney last August when Dr. Fawcett, on behalf of the Temperance Lodges of New South Wales, addressed Herr Bandmann on the stage. I can bear witness to the great success of "The Woman of the People!' in the Colonies. The theater was crowded every night for weeks. The combined temperance societies not only willingly gave their patronage, but visited the piece frequently, and publicly and privately thanked Mr. Bandmann for the good he had done to the cause of temperance. The play is a powerful one, Miss Baudet, as the poor, unfortunate wife brought to a state of despair and ruin by her worthless husband, portraying the picture to life. The amusing part of the play is kept up thoroughly by Mr. Bandmann, as "Remy." In Honolulu, where the evil effects of drink among the natives are so apparent. I hope that an.effort will be made to induce them to attend. This is the class of entertainment that should be supported by everybody. It not only contains a moral, but is also instructive and amusing. On one occasion in Sydney, at Each lesson should be in paragraphs and numberwhich I was not present, a deputation of all the Temperance Lodges, in their regalia, again addressed Mr. Bandmann from the stage.
